Land Acknowledgment

We, COLEGAS, begin this webinar by acknowledging our presence on the traditional, ancestral, and unceded territories of indigenous peoples throughout the state of California.

We pay our respects to the ancestors, elders, and our relations past, present, and emerging of the lands from where we all gather today.

We thank the UCLA American Indian Studies Center for providing this land acknowledgment model, and we encourage everyone joining us to continue to learn about the traditional land caretakers where your college is located and work to be in good relation with them.

Emilia Garcia
Artist

Emilia Garcia was born in Los Angeles, California. Her journey began in her grandparents ranch in Piru, CA. In 1996, it was her grandfather's death that drove her to leave the corporate world and immerse herself in artwork. As a Chicana, Emilia published a line of greeting cards focused on the beauty and culture of her indigenous roots. The Colegas Webinar features her art piece "Corazon de La Naturaleza." Turning on a Dime

California Community College Transformation in Response to COVID-19

“Im finding myself switching to a mindset of looking for the opportunities in the midst of the other challenges. What does disruption look like right now for our institutions? How can we move forward with this agenda of completion, equity, and success in the face of this environment?”

Edward Bush, President, Consumnes River College

“Student were already housing and food insecure before. We’ve now just exacerbated these things, and there’s the fact that these folks have families who have lost jobs, too.”

Tammeil Gilkerson, Former President, Laney College
(Now President of Evergreen Valley College)

“We developed a web page called ‘Ceritos Cares’...where the students can find information about all the services that we offer and make emergency requests for anything, all the way from laptops to help with rent.”

Jose Fierro, President/Superintendent, Cerritos College

What are emerging practices in serving Latinx students in Shelter in Place?

What are systemic and structural challenges that need to be addressed in order to best serve Latinx students?

What recommendations do you have for California Community Colleges as we continue in SIP?

What are some immediate takeaways for the group?
